Cancer Drive Exceeds Quota

Tom Langston, chairman of the Cancer Drive for Randall County, announced this week that the quota had been exceeded for the area exclusive of South Amarillo.

The quota was $1,900 and actual contributions amounted to $1,904. A total of 655 individual gifts were received.

County Wheat Quota Reduced

Randall County has been allotted 134,645 acres of wheat for the 1960 crop year under the wheat allotment program, according to information released this week by Doyle G. Thomas, office manager for the local ASC office. This acreage compares with an allotment of 135,556 acres for the current year or a reduction of 911 acres, he said.

Individual farm allotments have already been computed by the County Committee, and notices of these allotments were mailed on Monday. The reduction in acres was applied proportionately to individual farms meaning a slight reduction in each farm allotment, Thomas said.

A referendum among wheat farmers will be held on July 23 to see if marketing quota penalties will apply to the 1960 crop. If quotas are approved by two-thirds of the farmers voting, then penalties will apply to farmers exceeding the allotment. Also wheat will be supported at approximately 75 per cent of parity.

If marketing quotas are rejected, allotments would still be in effect but no penalty would apply for overplanting. The support price would be 50 per cent of parity and would be available only to those farmers planting within their allotment.

All farmers who will have an interest in more than 15 acres of wheat in 1960 are eligible to vote i nthe referendum. Wives of eligible voters may also vote. Farmers with an interest in 15 acres of wheat or less are not allowed to vote because penalties do not apply to acreages of 15 acres or less, even though quotas carry by the necessary two-thirds majority.

Applications Due For Tax Refunds

Farmers should make applications now for refunds of Federal gasoline tax, according to John Brazzil, county agent.

Rate of refund is 3 cents a gallon for gasoline used on the farm for farming purposes between July 1, 1958, and July 1, 1959. Farmers who have made refund applications before should have already received application forms by mail. Forms are also available through the county agent's office.

Deadline for application is Sept. 30, but Brazzil recommends that forms be filed soon.

This tax refund applies only to Federal gasoline taxes. State refunds must be filed separately.

Findley's Mother Dies in Marshall

Funeral services are pending.

The family has requested that memorials be contributions to Juliette Fowler Home, 100 Fulton Street, Dallas. Mrs. Elder died after suffering a heart attack 24 hours before she was to be admitted to this home for the aged, which is sponsored by the Christian Churches of Texas.

State To Widen 4th Avenue West

The Chamber of Commerce has been notified that the State Highway Department has approved the project to widen Fourth Avenue from 16th Street to 11th Street. Funds for the project will come from the State Highway Department allotment for 1960.

Plans will be submitted to the highway department as soon as they can be drawn up. If funds are available now the project may be started this fall. If funds are not available the project will start in the spring of 1960.

Signal lights at 15th and 16th Streets on Fourth Avenue will be installed at the time of construction.

This project will complete the widening of Fourth from the city limits east to 11th Street west. Work was started on the east section of the square on March 3, 1958. It was finished June 14, 1958.

College Registration Set Tuesday In WT Student Union Building

Second term of the summer session at West Texas State College will open Tuesday with registration, and classes will start Wednesday. Registration will be held in the Student Union Building, starting at 8 a. m.

Among special events and activities scheduled for the second term are a three-week aviation education workshop, annual Reading Conference, the seventh annual Band Camp, and two weekend educational tours.

The aviation education workshop, designed to provide elementary and secondary school teachers with a general background in aviation and an understanding of the air age, will open July 20 and continue through Aug. 7. Sponsored jointly by WT, the Civil Air Patrol, and the United States Air Force, the workshop will feature seminars, a large number of special speakers, demonstrations, and field trips by air. Registration will be July 20 at the Canyon elementary school.

A special feature of the aviation workshop will be a three-day airlift to Randolph Field in San Antonio and to Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth. Participants will be flown in military aircraft from Amarillo Air Force Base.

The seventh annual Reading Clinic, sponsored by the Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading, will be held on the WT campus July 28-30.

WT's Band Camp, which will attract about 300 selected high school musicians to the campus for two weeks of intensive training in band and choral study, will open Aug. 2. Directors may also earn two semester hours of graduate credit during the camp.

First week-end educational tour is scheduled July 17-19, when a group from WT will attend special music festivals in Denver and Red Rocks and operas in the Central City Opera House. Second tour, featuring drama, will be held Aug. 8-10.

Street Construction

Preliminary work was begun recently to make a boulevard out of the campus street running north from the Administration Building of West Texas State College. Rains last week delayed work on the street.

State Expenses Grow and Grow

The Texas Legislature is approaching the longest session on record and as yet hasn't come up with a solution to Texas' financial problem. It seems that the problem is one of finding more revenue to run the state and not one of finding something that could be cut out and relieve the pressure of providing more funds.

While the legislators battle to decide what new taxes shall be imposed, it would be well for Texans to have impressed on their minds why the additional taxes are necessary.

A year-by-year comparison of state expenditures makes the answer obvious. Since the end of World War II various groups have pressured the Legislature for more and more money. The general public has sat back complacently, taking the attitude that "it costs money to have the services we want, so we have to expect to pay for them."

The public has not applied the yardstick of essentiality, but has operated on the basis of desirability. The desirability sometimes has not been for the benefit of the public as a whole, but for special groups.

In 1950, total state expenditures (excluding what the state comptroller calls non-governmental costs, like travel expenses and refunds) amounted to $527,252,453. This should have been sufficient warning to Texans, had they taken the time to compare the 1950 expenditure with 1940, when the total was only $165,717,612. State spending tripled in 10 years!

There is no sign of a leveling off, even with the state in the red. The state is spending more than $1,000,000,000 a year now, or double the amount expended nine years ago.

Gov. Price Daniel has pointed out that 92½ per cent of all state expenditures go for four general purposes: Education, highways, public welfare, and hospitals and other eleemosynary institutions. The bulk of the increased spending has been for education, highways and public welfare.

The appropriation bills for fiscal 1960-61, still not completed by the Legislature, contemplate increased spending of around $40,000,000 to $50,000,000, much of it authorized directly by the people through constitutional amendments.

The deadlock in the Legislature boils down to whether industry shall bear the brunt of the additional taxes (favored by Gov. Daniel and the House) or whether the new taxes shall be spread out over a broad base (favored by the Senate).

Unless spending is reduced, which seems futile to even talk about, it appears that any new taxes which are not broad-based are going to be stop-gap in nature.

If ever Texans and their legislators should be aware of the need for holding the line on spending, it is now.

It is time, too, that the Legislature began looking for sources which are not now taxed, rather than continuing to pile up the taxes on a few items.

The more the tax base is broadened, the quicker the public is going to force the Legislature to apply the yardstick of essentiality when it is voting appropriations.

Equal Shares For All

(Editor's note: The following was borrowed from W. H. Graham Jr. and the Friona Star).

The philosophy of equal shares continues undiminished in the halls of the national legislature, if reports are correct. Last week President Eisenhower vetoed the wheat bill that would have provided 90 percent price supports but a 20 percent reduction in acreage for that commodity. Those were the things that got all the headlines.

But buried down inside the stories was an even more significant thing, and that is that both the house and the senate had agreed on an appropriations bill that would have limited price supports to $50,000 to any one individual operator.

Now, $50,000 may sound like quite a bit of money, and the fact of the matter is that it is, but do you have any idea what such a restriction would mean to our own area? If you don't, then get out a pencil and do a little figuring and you will come to the conclusion that large-scale, irrigated farming such as is common on the High Plains these days is really "big business" and that a $50,000 yearly gross is not at all uncommon.

The idea behind the limitation is to reduce the threat of the so-called "factory farm" to the so-called "family farm." It would be interesting to try to define the two. You might ought to try it. Chances are you'll come up with a "factory farm" definition that fits a lot of "family farm" operations around these parts.

Whatever a person, a group, or the government does, is either right or it is wrong. If price supports are wrong, then they should apply to no one, because they are wrong, period. If price supports are right, then they should be available to everyone, regardless of their income level. In effect, a limitation such as is planned will be one other federal means of leveling the income of the people. It will have the same effect as the graduated income tax. And, it will probably work the same way—that is, it will penalize the energetic, the ambitious, the intelligent, and the efficient, and will reward the drones, the inefficient, and those with inherent lesser abilities.

Congratulations

Canyon spent one of the safest and sanest fourth of Julys on record. There seemed to be a minimum of fireworks in the city and there was not an accident reported in the county. Law enforcement officers have expressed appreciation to the people for the manner in which they observed the holiday weekend.

Gene Alford in the Moore County News: Glad to see at least a small segment of our people returning to a good old American custom. We hear where there is going to be a big marble-shooting tournament for those boys and girls taking part in the summer YMCA program. Now we're getting somewhere. We think marbles, top-spinning, kites and a few other such outdoor refreshment can be as healthful and rewarding as television, vitamin pills and anti-this-or-that shots.

Paul Loftin in the Panhandle Herald: Owners of vacant lots seem to forget ownership when the weeds begin to grow.

TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

Next year will mark the 100th anniversary of the birth of William Jennings Bryan, the only man ever nominated three times by a major political party for the presidency of the United States and the greatest orator of his generation.

No other man in American history exerted as much influence on national affairs for so long a time. Besides being the candidate himself in 1896, 1900 and 1908, Bryan was — more than any other — responsible for the nomination of Woodrow Wilson in 1912 and he played a decisive part in Wilson's re-election in 1916. At the conventions of 1920 and 1924, Bryan was still an outstanding figure.

For almost 30 years, the spotlight shone upon him and not one act ever marred his good name. He was a man of integrity, of nobility, of deep religious conviction.

Only Clay and Blaine — in all the long sweep of American politics — rival Bryan in the enthusiasm which he inspired, a devotion which successive defeats could not shake. Known first as "the Boy Orator of the Platte," he was called "the Great Commoner" and "the Peerless Leader." The mention of his name was all that was needed to set off a demonstration.

As a young reporter, I once interviewed him. He was friendly, modest, human. Twice I heard him speak and he fully justified his great renown.

Bryan was born in Salem, Ill., March 19, 1860; graduated from Illinois College in Jacksonville and the Union School of Law in Chicago; began the practice of law in Jacksonville, then moved to Lincoln, Neb., the city with which his name is most closely associated, although he was editor (1894-96) of the Omaha World-Herald and, during his last years, lived in Florida. It was in Chicago that he delivered his "Crown-of-Thorns and Cross-of-Gold speech, which won him the first presidential nomination.

It is to be hoped that the 100th anniversary of this great American will be fittingly observed.

Use Sour Cream Chicken Dish

Sour cream continues to rise in popularity with homemakers, says the Texas Extension Service.

Try this recipe for chicken and sour cream.

Rub salt and pepper into the skin of a disjointed broiler or fryer. While this is flavoring, saute chopped onions in hot fat. Sprinkle generously with paprika. Use enough to give the onions a brilliant color. Add just a suggestion of vinegar.

Brown the seasoned chicken in the onion mixture. Then cover tightly and simmer until chicken is fork tender. Remove the chicken from the pan and add flour to the drippings. Stir until uniformly thickened.

Then add equal parts of tomato juice and sour cream. About a half pint each will cover one chicken well. Blend until creamy.

Place chicken in the sauce. Cover tightly and simmer about 10 minutes. Serve hot.

Use this same recipe for individual casseroles featuring a breast of chicken for each guest.

STATES' RIGHTS BILL

By Representative Walter Rogers 18th Congressional District

The House of Representatives last week passed H. R. 3. This is a bill commonly referred to as the "States' Rights Bill." It is primarily designed to prevent federal laws from striking down state laws in the same field where there is irreconcilable conflict.

It contains two sentences: the first states in effect that acts of Congress shall not be construed by the courts as pre-empting a field and thereby nullifying state laws on the same subject, unless the act of Congress so specifically states or unless there is such a direct and positive conflict between the federal act and the state law that the two cannot be reconciled or consistently stand together; the second sentence states in effect that it was not the intention of Congress in passing the Smith Act in 1940 to prevent states from prosecuting sedition against the United States. It will be remembered that the Supreme Court in 1956 ruled that an alleged communist in Pennsylvania could not be prosecuted for sedition under the Pennsylvania laws because the federal government had adopted an act in that field and thereby nullified the state law on the subject.

The passage of H. R. 3 after a vigorous and bitter debate, was a clear-cut victory for those who are opposed to the centralization of government and the concentration of power in Washington.

Those who opposed the passage of the act are considered generally to fall into the category of those desiring further expansion of federal regulation and activity. Needless to say, it is to be expected there will be much litigation on this subject if H. R. 3 finally becomes the law.

Whether or not it will clear the Senate is an unanswered question at this time. This same bill passed the House last year by the vote of 241 to 155. The margin this year was much narrower, the vote being 225 for the bill and 192 against it. The bill that passed the House last year failed in the Senate by a narrow margin of one vote.

Presuming, however, that the bill does pass the Senate, there is still the threat of a veto by Mr. Eisenhower. It is difficult for me to see how Mr. Eisenhower or anyone else can oppose this legislation if they desire to see the people of this country governed in the manner intended by the framers of our Constitution. However, the opponents are entitled to their beliefs on the subject which I respect, but I sincerely hope they do not prevail.

Dixie

A Yankee friend of mine from Fredericktown, Ohio, Congressman Robert W. Levering, introduced a resolution extending congratulations to the people of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, as they commemorated the 100th anniversary of the famous song "Dixie." It seems that the composer of the song was one Dan Emmett of Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

Uncle Sam

Last week the House Interior Committee adopted the resolution making a national shrine of the grave of Samuel Wilson, progenitor of the symbol "Uncle Sam." Few people realize that the symbol "Uncle Sam" did have its foundation in a real person, to wit, Mr. Sam Wilson, who was a prominent figure of the Revolution and colonization of this country.

He was born in 1766, ran away from home and joined the Army at 14½, serving until the end of the Revolutionary War. He settled in Troy, New York, and established a meat-packing business.

He was inspector of provisions for the American Army in New York during the War of 1812. A visitor to his meat-packing plant inquired as to what the initials "EAUS" on a barrel of meat signified. The workman replied the initials EA stood for Elbert Anderson, the contractor, and the US stood for Uncle Sam or the United States.

The name of Uncle Sam was later associated with the figure of the tall gentleman in striped pants, the star-bedecked coat and goatee. This figure then appeared in a cartoon and was known as Brother Jonathan. However, the association of the name Uncle Sam with the figure caused a merger of the two and it has remained since as the symbol of the United States, sometimes stern, sometimes jovial, sometimes surprised, but always typical of the qualities of our country and that for which it stands.

WANDA ROGERS

Engagement of Rogers, Phillips Revealed at Tea in Rogers Home

A tea revealing the engagement and approaching marriage of Wanda Lou Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Rogers, to Robert Ray Phillips, son of Mrs. R. F. Phillips and the late Mr. Phillips, was given in the Rogers home Monday evening from 7 until 9:30.

Vows will be exchanged by the couple on Sept. 4 at the First Baptist Church.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Rogers, the honoree, and Mrs. Phillips. Miss Rogers wore a pale pink glamelia corsage centered with sweetheart roses and tied with American Beauty pink ribbon. The mothers wore identical corsages of pale pink glamelias.

The bride-elect's chosen colors of pink and rose were carried out in the table decor. Laid with a pink taffeta cloth with a pink silk organza overskirt frosted with white butterflies on the sides and hem, the tea table featured a pink lace heart centerpiece in milk glass bowl accented with streamers with the names "Bob and Wanda." The streamers were tied with miniature wedding bells inscribed with the date "Sept. 4." Pale pink carnations and deep American Beauty roses surrounded the heart. Flanking the centerpiece were milk glass candleholders with pink candles.

Mrs. Billy Carl Morton of Lubbock, sister of the bride-elect, and Mrs. C. L. England of Marietta, Ga., aunt of the bride-elect, presided at the punch bowl and the serving of white cake topped with a single rose and rose bud mints.

Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Don Duncan, Barbara Brown, Johny Burkett, Joyce Parsons and aunts of the bride-to-be Mrs. Roy Cook of Haskell, Mrs. B. H. Rogers of Hart, Mrs. J. C. Fulton of Stillwater, Okla., Mrs. E. J. Parsons, Mrs. Doris Gillham, of Canyon, and Mrs. Henry Hamblen of Wayside.

RAMBLING AROUND

DOYLE G. THOMAS

Wheat farmers will have a chance to cast one of the most important votes of 1960 in the wheat referendum to be held on Thursday, July 23. This referendum will decide two things: Number 1 will be to see if penalties will apply to farmers planting in excess of their allotment and number 2, to set the level of price support for the 1960 crop.

If two-thirds of the votes are in favor of marketing quotas, then penalties will apply and wheat will be supported at 75 per cent of parity. If quotas are rejected, no penalties will apply and price support at 50 per cent of parity will be available to those farmers planting within their allotment.

Farmers that will have an interest in more than 15 acres of wheat in 1960 are eligible to vote. Wives of eligible farmers should also vote. No poll tax receipt is necessary. Polling places will be opened in each community from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The referendum will be conducted by the elected representatives of each community, who are the community ASC Committee.

There are lots of pro's and con's concerning this election and this office does not recommend which way to vote. We do think, however, that this is a democratic way of deciding an issue and urge that all eligible voters take a few minutes time to express their opinion. The stakes are high either way.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

BY LOUISE ALLEN

Some go in for traffic mayhem, sunburns on the lake, or slogging up a fishing stream on the Fourth. But for those of us who stay home and have supper in somebody's backyard, memories of the old-fashioned Fourth are real adventure.

In our hometown, a community picnic was invariably scheduled — a political rally, a gathering of pioneers or church families. Of the three, the last was undoubtedly the most exciting. Other dinner-on-the-ground events were usually held under a tabernacle-like shed or under the trees on the courthouse square. But for church picnics we journeyed out several miles to some picnic spot where we burned a bright red in the ole swimmin' hole or sweltered happily in the humid shade.

Twelve-year-old boys with pockets full of firecrackers filled the first few hours with make-believe terror for the little girls. Since shooting fireworks was taboo near the ladies, we hovered around the table until the supply was exhausted.

The mamas had prepared fried chicken, cakes, pies, potato salad, pickles, tomatoes and homemade bread. Ice-cold lemonade, which always ran out too soon, was made up in a huge crock. After what seemed hours of making ready, fanning flies off of the food and shooing away hungry children, we were allowed to fill our tin plates and sit cross-legged on the ground to eat.

Then we started out in quest of thrills — trembling at the entrance of a forbidden cave or scouting for rocks and flowers. Never a day passed but there was at least one casualty, ranging from wasp stings to broken arms. We've been places and seen things since those days, but for real adventure, nothing has ever touched the old-fashioned glorious Fourth in a prairie town.

A reputation built on a weak character is likely to topple.

ONE OF THE 7 BIG BESTS CHEVROLET GIVES YOU OVER ANY CAR IN ITS FIELD

Take it, not from us, but from official results of this year's Mobilgas Economy Run: Chevy's pennypinching 6 delivers the most miles per gallon in its field. For a pair of these Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide walked away with the first two places in their class, getting the best mpg figure—a whopping 22.38—of any full-size car. And here are more expert, impartial opinions and on-the-record facts backing us up on Chevy's other six bests:

BEST TRADE-IN

Check the figures in any N.A.D.A.* Guide Book. Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

BEST STYLE

BEST BRAKES

In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR†, Chevrolet out-stopped both of the other leading low-priced cars—and why not: Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings, to help lengthen brake life by as much as 66%.

BEST ROOM

Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.‡ make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

BEST ENGINE

Every motor magazine has given Chevrolet's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "Indeed this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

BEST RIDE

MOTOR TREND magazine calls Chevy ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. And your Chevrolet dealer can tell you about a long list of other advantages besides these 7 big ones!

Hints Given for Charcoal Fires

Be careful when firing charcoal briquettes, says the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. This is a major problem when cooking over an outdoor grill. Don't let an accident mar your family's enjoyment of an outdoor barbeque.

The Council cites two rules to observe when starting a charcoal fire: never use gasoline, either raw or in a mixture, to kindle any fire, and never add any kind of liquid fuel after the fire has started.

There are several methods you can use to start a fire safely. Paper or excelsior under the briquettes takes time and fanning but produces results. Some manufacturers treat the briquettes with a substance that burns readily when ignited. These cost a little more but are easier to fire.

Kerosene or a commercial charcoal lighter fluid also may be used. Put some of the briquettes in a five quart oil can and pour the kerosene or starter fluid over the briquettes until they are saturated. Pour off the excess fluid and you can use it again.

Put the saturated briquettes in the pit or brazier and light. Use a long candle or a paper "wick," made by twisting a sheet of newspaper into a tight "stick" shape. This will protect your hands.

Whether your grill is located in the backyard, a lakeshore, park or recreation area, make sure it is located in an open space well away from buildings and trees, the Council cautions. Remember that the first B in barbeque stands for "Be Careful."

Babe Ruth League Nears Half Way Mark; White Sox Takes Lead

Play continued under the lights last week as the Babe Ruth League moved into the second half of its schedule. The White Sox, managed by Chet Reynolds, maintained a comfortable lead in the standings, having won 6 and lost 2.

Steady pitching on the part of Harry Lisle and Ronnie Reynolds, plus the base running of Leon Henderson and the bat of Robert Cooke, have kept the White Sox in the lead.

Second in the standings are the Giants, managed by D. L. Hunt. This club has come along slowly with the help of an outstanding "rookie" and former Little Leaguer Bobby Evans, who has sparked the club. Power is spread among the team with such hitters as David Cole, Jimmy Killingsworth and Russell Cook. Pitchers are Cook, Larry Holman, Don Breitling and Killingsworth.

Third in the standings are the Cardinals, managed by Don Paris and Don Duncan. Hurt by several losses this season, especially that of Jess Sheets, this team has hung on stubbornly and has a record of 2 wins and 3 losses. Albert Keller and Ralph Cabe have been the mainstays of this club.

The Pirates, managed by Jim Boyd, have been rained out more than any other team, and as a result have played only five games winning 1, losing 3 and tieing 1. Doug Ward, Jimmy Brock and Joel Richardson have bolstered the Pirates.

In last week's games, the White Sox defeated the Pirates, 10-5, on Thursday night. Saturday night the Giants downed the Cardinals, 11-9. Monday night the White Sox thumped the Cardinals, 25-3, and Tuesday night the Giants squeezed by the Pirates, 13-12.

Scheduled this week are Giants vs. White Sox, Thursday; Cardinals vs. Pirates, Saturday; White Sox vs. Pirates Monday, and Giants vs. Cardinals Tuesday.

Summer Foods Need Proper Care

Nothing can live without food, suitable temperature and an appropriate amount of moisture. This applies to man, animals, fish—and plants.

It also applies to bacteria!

The range of needs for bacteria is slim, but when they are present bacteria can be very prolific, multiplying themselves by the millions in mere minutes.

That is why food poisoning is so much more common in warm weather—and why you need to be especially careful now about preparing food and storing it.

The main rule to remember is that bacteria which are apt to cause food poisoning thrive best in lukewarm foods.

Thus if you make it a hard-fast habit to keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold, the chances of bacteria getting a foothold are slim.

However, there are certain foods that have proven to be more susceptible to bacteria' growth and the resulting food poisoning conditions.

For instance, egg and milk mixtures, including custards and meats, either in salads or sandwiches, and potato salad—one of the popular picnic foods—are often quickly suspected when food infections occur in summer.

Making sandwiches and wrapping them in wax paper to let stand for hours before eating is just asking for trouble. So keep them well refrigerated.

Potato salad can give lots of trouble. The best way to avoid it is to chill all the ingredients before mixing, and then store the salad in SHALLOW containers in the refrigerator. Deep bowls retain the room temperatures in the center portions.

Everyone loves a picnic. Enjoy them, but a portable ice box and a thermos bottle are musts if you are going to minimize the chance of summer food poisonings.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Would you like to increase the rate water filters into your soil? This along with improving condition, increasing available plant nutrients, and having a protective cover for controlling soil temperature and excessive evaporation can be obtained by the use of vetch and winter peas.

The vetch and winter peas roots will improve the soil structure and in improving structure will help keep the soil open for water intake and increase the water storage capacity.

The decomposing plant residues, along with the other advantages, release plant nutrients. Hairy vetch will release about four per cent nitrogen on dry basis. This decomposition also releases carbon dioxide and weak acids which will act on some soil minerals and release nutrients for plant growth.

The vetch and winter peas can be seeded by broadcast or in the row method in your sorghum after the last cultivation. The seed should, immediately prior to planting, be inoculated with the proper culture of bacteria to aid in the nitrogen fixation. Many times a person needs to use a milk or water-molasses mixture to cause the bacteria to stick to the seed. Small amounts of seed can be treated satisfactorily by hand. Large amounts should be mixed in tumblers or cement mixers.

The grazing of this high protein plants should be limited to leave a good soil cover. For the best soil conditioning benefit, leave the crop on the land until it is in full bloom.

The plants can be killed and the residue chopped into the top soil with a tandem disc or similar tool at least four weeks before you plan to plant.

Equipment for planting has been made available by the supervisors of the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District. A legume seeder that can be used between rows of sorghum after the last cultivation can be obtained for 50 cents an acre by contacting Ed Dwyer, vovational agriculture instructor at Canyon High School. To insure your getting the planter when you need it contact Mr. Dwyer early. The equipment is on a first come-first served basis.

Stamp Salutes Conservation

A 4-cent postage stamp saluting progress in soil conservation in the United States will be issued Aug. 26 by the Post Office Department, said Lynn Pittard, assistant soil and water conservation specialist.

The nation's first soil conservation stamp will be formally released at the annual meeting of the Soil Conservation Society of America at Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 26. It will go on sale the following day at post offices throughout the country.

The stamp, which was developed in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, portrays a modern farmland setting signifying that conservation farming brings beauty as well as bounty to rural living. Soil conservation practices portrayed include contour stripcropping, terracing, pasture improvement, tree planting and a farm pond. In addition, the silhouette of a city in the background symbolizes that urban as well as rural people are highly dependent upon the care and wise use of land as a principal source of food, water, shelter and clothing. The stamp will be printed in three colors, yellow, green and blue.

Issuance of the stamp, Pittard said, is a tribute to farmers and ranchers, their local soil conservation districts and to the professional agricultural workers who have helped make the United States a world leader in soil conservation.

First day "covers" containing the stamp are available through the Postmaster at Rapid City, S. D. Upon request and receipt of addressed envelopes and a remittance to cover the cost of the stamps, the post office at Rapid City will place the new stamp on the envelopes, cancel them with a special cancellation mark used only on that day and at that place, and mail the envelopes on the first day of issue.

WARREN'S

TELEPHONE TALK
by Al Leach, Manager

Last month we lost Bill Leary as Manager when he was moved to Dallas. This month Margaret Hensley, a Service Representative in the Business Office, is moving to Waco. Miss Frances Thomas is replacing Mrs. Hensley. You will find Frances to be a friendly, courteous employee with a good knowledge of the telephone business, ready and able to help you in any way. We hate to lose Mrs. Hensley but feel fortunate to have an experienced employee such as Frances available to replace her.

Vacations and Telephones

When you think of vacation, about this time of year, you probably think of fishing, swimming, visiting, or just plain relaxing at some nice vacation spot.

Well, I'm happy to say that more and more people are using the telephone to have more fun on their vacation trips.

Here's how it works (and you can do the same if you're one of the lucky people still looking forward to a vacation):

First, call ahead to reserve your reservations along the highway. This way, you can drive longer and still be sure of a place to stay.

I think you'll find that this "calling-ahead habit" will help you and your family have an even better vacation.

Why not give it a try? And remember, call station-to-station — it's about one-third cheaper.

Ten Rings

With backyard barbecues so popular nowadays, people are spending more and more time outdoors. So when you call your friends, remember it may be quite a run from the backyard to the telephone.

Give them time to make the dash by letting the telephone ring ten times.

Who knows? They may ask you over, too, for some of those hamburgers on the grill!

Call by number. It's twice as fast.
